Fire Sets Off Own Alarm; Family Flees From Danger

Damages to Exceed $1,000 Result from Blaze at Cosgrove's

Members of the William Cosgrove family escaped unharmed when the fire which badly damaged the Clara Westlake house on Lake street, in which they were living, short-circuited the wires to the electric doorbell and awakened them, early Sunday morning.

Cosgrove had risen at about 5 o'clock to fix the fire in the furnace, and had gone back to bed for a short time.

He was awakened by the ringing of the doorbell, to find the lower part of the house filled with smoke, which was seeping from between the walls. Hastily arousing the other members of the family, his wife, their two daughters, Mary and Vivian, and two sons, Joseph and Bernard, he hurried them to the porch before turning in an alarm to the fire department.

Eats Into Walls

Considerable difficulty was experienced by the firemen in bringing the fire under control, as it had eaten its way up between the walls, apparently following the electric wires.

Damages to the building were estimated by Fire Chief James Stearns to be in the neighborhood of $800 or $1,000. There was insurance for $4,000 on the building.

Furniture and clothing owned by the Cosgroves were badly damaged, but no complete estimate of this loss has as yet been made, according to Stearns. There was no insurance on the contents of the building.

The Cosgroves have moved as much as they have been able to salvage of their belongings into the Vixens house on Lake street, and will live there.

The Cosgroves were more than fortunate in being awakened by the ringing of the door bell, Stearns states, expressing it as his belief that a slightly longer delay in their awakening would have placed them in serious danger.

Mary Hodge Wright Dies In New York

Word has been received in Wilmot of the death of Mrs. Edwin Wright, who passed away in New York City at the age of 82 years and 8 months.

She was born Mary Lavinia Hodge, June 14, 1868, on a farm three miles east of Richmond, and was united in marriage with Edwin E. Wright on April 23, 1885.

Three children were born to them. Ethel, now Mrs. Thomas Fuson of New York City; Floyd, who died in infancy, and Clarence Edwin Wright, of Oconto Falls, Wis. There are three grandchildren and two great-granddaughters.

A brother, John Hodge of Fairhope, Ala., also survives.

Since Mr. Wright's death in December, 1922, Mrs. Wright has made her home in New York with Mrs. Fuson.

She and Mr. Wright were two of the organizers of the Eastern Star chapter in Wilmot, and were also interested in working for the welfare of the schools and in other community activities. Mr. Wright was for many years an undertaker in Wilmot.

Funeral services were held at the North Presbyterian church in New York City, where Ethel Wright Fuson is "contralto soloist." The body was cremated and the ashes will be brought to Wilmot cemetery at a later date.

McMillen, Silverstein Win Bouts at Waukegan

Jim McMillen brought his "flying tackle" into play to defeat "Dizzy" Davis, the Texas dandy, in a rough and tumble bout interspersed with fist-fights Friday evening on the all-star mat card sponsored by the Loyal Order of the Moose in Waukegan.

In a bout heralded as the "cleanest of the evening," Ralph "Ruffy" Silverstein, Illinois state title holder, pinned Adolph Goebels in 26 minutes with a leg lock.

Hans Schnabel, rough and tough Milwaukeean, lost to the Swedish Angel on a decision, after Schnabel had carried the "Angel" 20 feet from the ring and dropped him in the third row of ringside seats.

In the opener, Karol Krauser, Polish star, pinned Gene Bowman.

Narvik Mayor's Visit to U. S. Is Drama of Escape

Mayor Theodor Broch of Narvik is said to be the youngest mayor in Norway. Before being elected mayor, he practiced law in Narvik, which is one of the most important shipping points in northern Norway.

On April 9, the young mayor saw his city literally shot to pieces, burnt and plundered by the Germans in their undeclared war against Norway. He himself was arrested, condemned to death, escaped and was arrested the second time when he escaped again. After finding a home for his family, he escaped across Norway on foot into Sweden, then through Russia and across frozen Siberia, reaching Japan and finally San Francisco.

Mayor Broch was an eye witness to the terrific German ravages. Norwegian people were ruthlessly molested and murdered. Even old people, women and children were driven from their homes—their food supplies, clothing, merchandise, building materials, oil and gasoline, fuel, anything that the Germans could use were confiscated by them in various ways, subjecting the people of Norway to the most rigid rationing and, even now after there is no fighting in Norway, Germany still has approximately 400,000 soldiers in Norway in addition to thousands of secret police who are policing the country and spying upon all the activities of the people.

Mayor Broch is telling the people of America about his experiences and conditions in Norway. Since the Germans overran Norway, they have taken possession of the newspapers, radios, mail and transportation service, making it difficult for outsiders to communicate with their friends or relatives in Norway.

Mayor Broch is scheduled to speak here Monday evening, March 3, at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Antioch Business and Professional Women's club.

Local Collegians Win Praise for Class Work

Among the students registering for the second semester of Illinois College, in Jacksonville, is Ted Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Larson of Antioch. This is the 224th consecutive semester of classes held by the college.

One of the outstanding scholars in the University of Illinois College of Fine and Applied Arts is T. V. Ritchie, Antioch, according to the first semester grade reports released today. Tractor Short Course Scheduled for Lake Co.

With about 1250 tractors in use on Lake county farms, attention will be turned to tractor care and repair at a two-day county tractor short course on March 3 and 4, at Rockenbach's garage, Grayslake.

This two-day course is being sponsored by a committee appointed from the Lake County Farm Bureau board, composed of Charles W. Wray, chairman, George Vose and Otto Metzler, in co-operation with the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Mr. R. C. Hay, extension specialist in Agricultural Engineering will be present to conduct the course. Senior Class Wins H. School Drama Tourney

"Archie Comes Home" and "Percival Fainted" Are Winning Plays

The "Drama Shield" won by the Senior class in Antioch High school's eighth annual Inter-Class Play tournament, Monday and Tuesday evenings, and the gold cup and other drama awards earned by students during the past year, will be presented at the annual Thespian banquet.

Although the exact night has not been set, the banquet will be held some time within the next three weeks, Mrs. Marguerite K. Phillips, drama instructor, announces.

The winning play Monday evening was "Archie Comes Home." The Tuesday evening winner was "And Then Percival Fainted."

Dale Smith was judged the best actor Monday evening and Charles Anderson Tuesday evening. Joyce Anderson was rated outstanding among the girls Monday evening and Roberta Selter on Tuesday evening.

Performances of numerous other students taking part in the plays during the two evenings also received high praise from spectators, and the programs drew good attendances in spite of the cold weather.

The cast of "Archie Comes Home" included Dale Smith, Catherine Quigley, Ella Fay, Leonard Roblin, Lila Cobb and Bob Phillips.

"And Then Percival Fainted" was staged by Charles Anderson, Vivian Cosgrove, Gertrude Horton, Doris Klass, Kathleen Fields and Allan Latham.

District Drama Meet

One of the plays given during the tournament will be taken to the district drama tournament to be sponsored by the Illinois State High School Speech league on April 19. While the choice is not definite, it will probably fall on "The Last Curtain," a serious play dealing with Lincoln, Mrs. Phillips states.

Mrs. Phillips has not been notified yet as to where the district tournament will be held, but either La Grange or Palatine seems a likely choice. Since Antioch is included in the "Chicago district," which has many large schools with a wealth of talent to draw on, the local players face stiff competition. They have, however, in the past reached second place in these contests.

Senior Class Play

Tryouts will be held next week for the Senior Class play, to be staged April 3 and 4.

Now busy selecting the play is a committee consisting of Roberta Selter, Richard Hartnell, Dale Smith, Fred Hawkins, Doris Klass, Virjean Hook and Violet Loftus.

A & P Observes Founder's Week

Business principles laid down 81 years ago—and adhered to closely ever since—assume new importance as a defense measure this week, H. A. Alexander, sales manager in this area for the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, declared today.

Those principles, established by George Huntington Hartford when he opened the first red-fronted A & P store in 1859, today serve as an effective brake against spiraling food prices such as took place during the last World War, Mr. Alexander said, and make the company's celebration of Founder's Week in Mr. Hartford's honor of particular importance this year.

"As defense costs mount, everything possible must be done to assure the American public of the greatest amount of healthful foods at the most reasonable prices possible. In celebrating Founder's Week, we of the A & P are doubly pleased to reaffirm Mr. Hartford's original principles which have made material contributions to the high American standard of living through narrowing the spread between retail prices and returns to producers," Mr. Alexander said.

Danger from Within

The inconsistencies of human nature stagger logical reasoning. For example, there are those in the United States who blast the totalitarian powers as destroyers of democracy—which is the truth. In the next breath, they promote policies in our own nation that are as totalitarian in their ultimate effect as the program of any dictator.

The policies of the aggressor nations in destroying the rights and liberties of individuals, are no more deadly in their effect than are the policies being promoted by advocates of government ownership of industry in this country.

These promoters of state socialism in the United States simply assume that public ownership of business, patterned after the dictatorships, is going to cure all shortcomings or failures in private enterprise. They advance no arguments to prove to the people that socializing private industry will correct evils of which they complain, and which, at their worst, are not to be compared with the evils that follow in the wake of a policy which gives government and bureaucratic officialism an opportunity to destroy any line of private endeavor at public expense.

It is a monstrous thing that is taking place in our country under the guise of government ownership of the power industry. The worst of the picture is not the loss of the power companies to their present private owners, although that form of aggression by government against its citizens is bad enough—the real terrorizing aspect of the situation is the fact that public officials within our own government have already adopted the ruthless technique of the dictators.

The sacred name of government is being used as the screen behind which to attack private enterprise in this country under the guise of protecting the people, when as a matter of fact, every move made to put government into business and destroy private enterprise, is undermining and revoking the very liberties we should defend.

The greatest danger this country faces today is not from the aggressor without, but from the aggressor within. In the name of democracy, we have powerful influences at work within our nation using the defense emergency to destroy democracy at home.

They pick out a big industry for the spearhead of their attack, on the theory that it has few friends. It is the principle of government ownership they are establishing, rather than the industry they are attacking, that the public should be fearful of. The future rights and liberties of every citizen, every home owner, every farmer and every business man are at stake. Remember that the aggressor technique and the results that follow its success are as damaging to the individual, regardless of the cloak under which it is disguised.

History of Liberty

"Liberty has never come from government. Liberty has always come from the subjects of it. The history of liberty is a history of resistance. The history of liberty is a history of limitations of government power, not the increase of it."—Woodrow Wilson.

Jugular Vein of Liberty

Those who sit back and cynically condemn the banker as a parasitic money changer, are helping to place their own future in peril. They are suffering from a great and tragic misconception. The banker represents private savings, and private savings are the backbone of private opportunity. Money and credit are fundamentally the private property of the people and must be guarded as such by private citizens. Our bankers are private citizens. They are the stewards of our money and credit, nothing more. The billions which we the people have deposited in their care, belong to us. Therefore we have set up a stringent framework of regulation around the bankers to guide them in the utilization of our money and to protect us against those who would abuse the trust we have placed in them.

History has shown that whenever a government succeeds in gaining control of a people's money, it sooner or later gains control of the people, too.

Our system of free enterprise, which includes everything from the smallest truck farm to the largest corporation, depends utterly on the maintenance of money and credit system that is not dominated by government. Private banking with its thousands of independent community banks is one of the strongest bulwarks against an autocratic government throttling the jugular vein of liberty.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

AS the year 1941 opens, activities in those industries most closely associated with the efforts to prepare for our national defense, and to supply the military necessities of the British, are moving at almost war-time tempo. Operating on a backlog of orders estimated at $3,500,000,000, the aircraft industry has within 12 months doubled its capacity and is expected to double its production in 1941.

Machine-tool production in 1940 was estimated at $400,000,000, and the figure is expected to climb another $200,000,000 in 1941.

All shipbuilding yards of any size are operating at capacity and many are expanding their facilities. The expansion in this industry, however, has been less an overnight development than that of aircraft and machine tools.

Some of the questions which cannot be answered at the moment are: How can we train enough skilled workmen to turn out the planes that we are going to need in the next few months? Is our plant capacity adequate to the burden that the arms program will place upon it in a year or two? Have we sufficient power resources?

These are but a few questions which must be answered in 1941. It would seem, however, that much depends upon the methods used to quickly train men for exacting tasks. It takes time to train an unskilled man, but in this national emergency there can be found many men who already have some measure of skill. Today most attention is focused on them. There are rare opportunities for these men if they will make use of the facilities available for acquiring the needed training. They can put our national defense program ahead, but to do this means hard work and country-wide sacrifice.

JESUS CALLS TO PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 11:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Lord, teach us to pray.
—Luke 11:1.

Imitations may be so clever as to cause us to marvel, but to the one who knows the real thing, they are "just imitations." Particularly is that true in the realm of the spiritual. Make-believe faith in God fools only the hypocrite and those who know as little as he does of real Christianity.

Prayer is undoubtedly the greatest privilege of the Christian, putting him and his life in touch with the omnipotence of God. But it must be real prayer, not just some formal exercise which masquerades under the name of prayer. We combine the two parables of our lesson to contrast prevailing prayer and powerless prayer.

I. Prevailing Prayer.
The prayer which really lays hold upon God and brings results must be the expression of a life of prayer. It is no occasional effort brought about by a great need or a deep sorrow. We must pray

1. Without Ceasing (v. 1). Jesus had just been talking of the trying days which were to come (Luke 17:26-30). To stand fast for Christ in a day when almost all the influences are against such faith, a man needs real prayer or he will surely faint.

To pray constantly is not necessarily to be saying the words of prayer, but is the outreach of the life toward God, the setting of our minds on things above. That we can and may do at all times and in all places.

2. With Assurance (vv. 2-9). If an unjust judge will respond just to escape the constant plea of a widow, we may rest assured that God, who is just and looks upon His people in loving-kindness, will not fail to respond to their plea. He says, "Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not" (Jer. 33:3).

3. In Humility (vv. 13, 14). We come to God, not to demand, but to humbly plead the blood of Jesus Christ. That was what the publican did. When he said, "Lord, be merciful," he used the word "propitiated," which refers to the mercy seat on which the blood was sprinkled as a propitiation for sin (see Exod. 25:17, 18, 21; Heb. 9:5; Lev. 16:5). Such a plea brought salvation to the repentant sinner.

II. Powerless Prayer.
We use the word prayer here in the broad sense, for strictly speaking there is no such thing as prayer without power. Men call it prayer, but it accomplishes nothing because it is offered

1. In Self-sufficiency (vv. 9, 11). Those who trust "in themselves" will naturally do what the Pharisee did; he "prayed with himself." "He had an intellectual conviction, but that does not make a contact with God. Hell is full of intellectual conviction. God? Oh, yes. But he was so occupied with himself he could not get away from himself" (Morgan).

2. With Boastful Pride (vv. 9, 11, 12). Despising others, the Pharisee boasted of his own fine character and good works. "God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble" (James 4:6). It is proper that a man should live uprightly, but if it only makes him self-righteous it becomes a barrier between him and God (Luke 18:14).

3. For the Sake of Publicity (v. 11, cf. v. 13). While the publican hung his head and stood afar off to offer his prayer, the Pharisee apparently took a prominent place and spoke with a loud voice. Jesus described that kind of prayers in Matthew 6:5 as just putting on a publicity "stunt." When men had seen them pray, the transaction was finished. They had not been in touch with God at all.

The result of the two prayers is so well described by Dr. J. Campbell Morgan that we quote his words:
"Two men at prayer. One, eloquently, in phrases circling round his own personality with which he was pre-eminently pleased. The other, hating his sin, and grasping out after the infinite and tender compassion of God to operate for him. . . . The man who justified himself remained unjustified. The man who sought the compassion of God went back to his house justified."

There Is Another Life
I cannot believe, and cannot be brought to believe, that the purpose of our creation is fulfilled by our short existence here. To me the existence of another world is a necessary supplement of this, to adjust its inequalities, and imbue it with moral significance.—Thurflow Weed.

Admiral Nimitz Commissions Navy Service School Built by Henry Ford

Auto Manufacturer Makes One of His Rare Appearances Before Microphone

DEARBORN, MICH.—When its huge building program got under way, the Navy faced another huge problem, the training of men in the highly technical duties which crews are called upon to perform.

The existing naval training stations were already full. Turning to industry, Navy officials found that the Henry Ford Trade School, situated in the heart of the Rouge plant, was perfectly suited to such training.

Henry Ford not only offered the facilities of both school and plant to the Navy for this purpose, but also said he would build barracks for 1200 students, mess hall for 2000, administration building, provision storage, recreation room, athletic field, a steam generating plant.

The offer was accepted, and on December 6, 1940, the first shovel of earth was turned on the bank of the Rouge River. Forty days later the first contingent took up quarters in the newly erected buildings. The inauguration ceremonies were described by Commander C. P. Cecil as "unique in the history of the United States Navy—for we are dedicating the first Navy Service School ever to be operated in connection with civilian industry."

With naval officers on the outdoor platform beside him, and 200 enlisted men drawn up in front of the school's administration building, Henry Ford said that: "During the present crisis our organization wants to do everything possible to help America and the President. The Navy being our first line of defense, I feel that the training of these young men will vitally benefit our nation. And, when this crisis is over, we can then reclaim these mechanically trained young men in our industries."

In turning the facilities of school and plant over to the Navy for training personnel, Edsel Ford explained that his father had established the Henry Ford Trade School 24 years ago "because he believed in using the facilities of the Ford Motor Company for something more than the building of motor vehicles. He believed that these facilities could also be used for the building of youth."

Rear Admiral C. W. Nimitz, who came from Washington to represent Secretary Knox, accepted the facilities of school and plant. "I can think of no better place for this extension of the Navy training program," he declared. "I wish, Mr. Ford, to express to you the appreciation of the Navy Department for this fine demonstration of patriotism on your part."

The new Navy Service School will be under the administration of Rear Admiral John Downes, Commandant of the Ninth Naval District, which includes 13 states and has headquarters at Great Lakes, Illinois.

After explaining that the men to be trained here come from both the Pacific and the Atlantic, as well as the Great Lakes, he added: "We know that Mr. Ford has here established the finest school in the world for training men in the mechanical trades. This will be the most important training center that the Navy has for schooling its newly enlisted men in the mechanical duties which they will be called upon to perform immediately upon joining the fleet."

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile
Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d—until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling—and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

The demonstration will be worthwhile for the experienced seamstresses too, since a number of new ideas will be presented.

These classes meet every Thursday evening at 7:45 p. m. at the Antioch High school and are open to the public with no charge.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 10.

The Golden Text was, "Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified" (Psalm 70:4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly" (Psalm 84:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Day may decline and shadows fall, but darkness flees when the earth has again turned upon its axis. The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death,—as the central Life and Intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

Improving Our Environment

JESUS said (Luke 17:21), "The kingdom of God is within you." Therefore, harmony, satisfaction, contentment, and peace are present for individual realization at all times.

Mary Baker Eddy writes (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 167), "Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity." Thus it is evident that what we admit to be true has a marked effect upon our daily experience.

Spiritual understanding is the only effective remedy for erroneous beliefs, since it reveals Mind to be the one true basis for happiness and harmony. The best assurance for maintaining a desirable environment is a consciousness filled with goodness, love, justice—a consciousness imbued with the conviction that "all things work together for good to them that love God" (Romans 8:28). The consciousness of the allness—the omnipresence—of divine Love affords an effective defense against all manner of erroneous suggestion.

Christ Jesus said (John 14:2), "In my Father's house are many mansions." Man, as the idea of God, lives and moves in Mind, the infinite divine consciousness, wherein are only harmony and goodness. Our true selfhood is ever aware of kindness, compassion, peace, health, perfection. God's image and likeness knows no other state of being than that of perpetual harmony. Health, harmony, happiness are attained by spiritualizing individual human consciousness. We should always resist the temptation to believe that we are unable to accomplish a worthy task because of environment, conditions, or unjust opposition. All we need to do is to accept the fact that, as the children of God, omnipotent, infinite Truth, we are endowed with unlimited spiritual capacity. Then we shall begin to express the wisdom and strength necessary to achievement. Consistent harmony and success can be won only as we constantly reason from the basis of Spirit.

As we look at existence from the spiritual point of view, we find joy, beauty, and bliss made manifest in our present experience. If we believe ourselves to be material and separated from divine Principle, the goal we desire seems remote and even unattainable. But when we grasp the fact, even faintly, that true selfhood is at one with God, Love, and has no taint of materiality and mortality, the outlook brightens and we find heaven at hand. . . . He who is conscious of the presence of divine power sees as unreal any sense of a disagreeable or cramped environment.

The song of the bird, the beauty of the flower, the sky, the sunlight, all speak to the human heart of peace. Why? Because they lift our thought above the drab outlook of material sense to the contemplation of these symbols of divine goodness. Then, how much more should the Science of Christ, when understood and applied, increase our peace and joy, and promote harmony and success in all worthy enterprises! The only possible way we have of experiencing real and stable happiness and peace is through spiritual thinking, which recognizes the presence and allness of inexhaustible Love. There is but one really satisfying way to improve our environment, and that is by eliminating evil from our thinking, by banishing envy, fear, selfishness, and hatred. The purified consciousness finds concord and bliss where material sense suggests discord and woe.

When we realize that God is omnipresent, we know that evil cannot prevent us from proving the perfection of man, God's likeness. No claim of evil can interfere with our demonstration of goodness, blessedness, and harmony. If harmony does not seem to be present, we need to draw closer to God, and cling more firmly to His allness and goodness. In proportion to our realization of God's all-inclusiveness, and of man's likeness to Soul, will good come into our human experience. Let us accept wholeheartedly the fact that good is infinite, and that error cannot prevent our recognition of the fact. Then the loveliness of creation will unfold before our spiritualized vision, and our present experience will be filled with opportunities for good, friendship, and righteousness.

AUXILIARY SPONSORS "DEFENSE" DISPLAY

In an effort to promote the idea of "National Defense as the Best Peace Insurance for America," the Antioch American Legion auxiliary has arranged a window display at Phillips' store.

"For those civilians not constantly reminded of the nation's constant need for preparedness, reminders of previous wars serve to jog the memory," officers of the auxiliary state.

"Both opponents and well-wishers of the lease-lend bill can well afford to give additional thought to our national defense."

Prizes went to Mrs. Frank Hunt, Miss Laura Hatch and Miss Mabel Brogan.

Former Residents Send Greetings

Greetings from far corners of the country came to the News and other friends here during the holidays. Due to lack of space at that time the letters were held over for later publication. News letters from Florida and Oregon appear below.

From Pahokee, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ahrens request that their copy of the News be sent to that city until next March, when they will return to Antioch.

"This is a beautiful place," they write "and when we read about the zero temperature up there we wish sincerely that we could share this beautiful sunshine we enjoy here. We hope this finds you and all our friends up there in the best of health." The Ahrens' address is general delivery, Pahokee, Fla.

Harrison in Portland

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Harrison, of Portland, Oregon, renewing their subscription write that they wish all a very merry Christmas and a happy new year. "We look forward," they write, "to receiving our paper every Monday morning, and we enjoy reading about what is going on in the old home town. Although we are in a very beautiful country and city we still think of the old home town and state. Portland is a city of over 300,000 population. Temperatures range around 45 to 50 degrees, and of course we have rain instead of snow. The temperature has been down as low as 32 deg. just once so far this winter. Roses and other flowers are in bloom and lawnmowers are still humming."

The Harrisons are proud of their adopted city, and they have written interesting information about the west coast metropolis. Portland has many lumber mills and flour mills, cement factories, woolen mills, foundries and steel plants. Two rivers, the Willamette and the Columbia, flow through the city. Great ocean ships dock at the ports in Portland and also at the city of Vancouver, four miles across the Columbia river.

Great ship-building yards at Portland give employment to thousands of workers, and the city's airports are among the finest in the country.

Three famous mountains—Mt. Hood, St. Helen's and Mt. Adams are in sight of Portland. Ski tournaments and other winter sports are popular in the region, which has many resorts for both winter and summer vacationists. The city is 90 miles from the Pacific ocean, and 50 miles from the state capitol city, Salem, which boasts a new and beautiful capitol building.

Mr. Harrison is a special police officer with the Portland City Police Department. Their address is 841 N. Russett street.

Farm Senators In Fight Against Dictatorship Bill

Urge All Citizens to Write
Their Congressmen Asking
Measure's Defeat.

Farm state senators, church publications and the daily press all have joined voices to chorus their indignation at the war propagandists' bill introduced into Congress, which seeks to drive this country into war after establishing a dictatorship here.

Sen. Arthur Capper, Kansas, led a group of other farm senators in proclaiming opposition to the war bill, and, with the America First Committee, urged citizens to write their representatives and senators asking the measure be killed.

"I am against the bill as I think it gives the President dangerous powers and it will lead to war," Capper said tersely. "The congress should not be asked to surrender the powers given to it by the constitution."

Both of the Senators Clark, Bennett Champ of Missouri and D. Worth of Idaho, similarly called for defeat of the proposal.

"The measure indicates war abroad and dictatorship at home," Clark of Missouri said. "If the United States goes to war the farmers and laborers will pay the bill. The bill will be something the like of which the world has never seen."

Clark of Idaho said that the proposed legislation "is wrapped up in the dictatorship issue, to such an extent that the risk of America's entry into the war is part and parcel of the bill. I am against the United States entering the war. If we should become involved the war would last for years and the only sure thing to come out of it would be economic ruin for this country. The farmer had a taste of that after the last war—but it was only a taste."

Sen. Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota, asserted, "The people of the United States have permitted their President and his ambassadors to create an international emergency for them. The emergency, however great now, does not compare with the emergency that will be visited upon them if the President is given what he asks for in the pending bill."

"Name it whatever one will, the bill provides for the divorce of congress, as representative of the people, of all its powers and gives to the President powers including those of making alliances for war greater than ever entertained by a war-time President and this at a time when we are at war with no nation," Nye continued.

"I am confident that if only the people can have time to study and know this dictator bill they will kill the proposal with their protests. This they should do, else our democracy is gone and we are compromised to active participation in a long war in which every nation engaging will lose," Nye said.

Wisconsin's senior senator, Robert M. LaFollette, whose father fought our entry into the last war, also warned that "Under the terms of the pending measure the President would be empowered to create a state of war. In fact, the bill specifically provides for the use of our ports and facilities as a base for belligerent warships. Here is a proposal to import the European war to our shores."

"The bill gives blanket approval of Congress in advance for the President to dispose of part or all of our fleet. Merchant ships, planes, tanks, or other implements and munitions of war now in the possession of or being manufactured for our Army and Navy," LaFollette said.

"The terms and conditions under which any foreign government would receive any aid would be solely at the discretion of the President."

"It is a bold attempt to create a dictatorship to govern our future foreign policy. Once this bill becomes law Congress will function only as a rubber stamp."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana, who is leading the fight on the bill in the Senate, assailed the measure as a means to send American boys into foreign wars.

"The bill, because of its broad grant of power to a single man, is a dictatorship measure," Wheeler said. "Because it violates every concept of American neutrality, I have previously called it the New Deal's triple-A foreign policy, it may well mean that every fourth American boy will be plowed under African or European soil."

The non-denominational "Christian Century," leading weekly Christian magazine, expressed itself as follows:

"It is the most un-American proposal which the American people have ever been asked to consider. . . . The grants of power to the executive which the bill carries make it a blueprint of totalitarianism. . . .

"Thus, for the moment, Congress holds the power to deliver the nation to a dictatorship or to rescue it from the threat of one. Three courses lie open to it. It can abdicate its power as the German reichstag did, as the Italian chamber of deputies did, as the Polish parliament did, as all democracies which have gone totalitarian have done,

BETTER FEEDING REDUCES TURKEY BREEDING COSTS

Purina Experimental Farm turkey hen No. 520 laid 219 eggs in a 292-day period.

That the efficiency of turkey breeder production can be improved tremendously is shown by the results at the Purina Experimental Farm at Gray Summit, Missouri.

According to G. P. Plaisance, manager of the Turkey Department, the turkey breeder flock at the Purina Experimental Farm produces around 60 eggs per hen during the months of March, April, and May, whereas according to available data, the country's average for these same three months, which are the principal months when the average turkeys do their laying, is 45 to 50 eggs.

"The significance of these comparative figures is revealed when one considers that last year approximately more than 32,000,000 turkeys were marketed from about 40,000,000 hatched," Plaisance says. "On the basis of the average turkey hen producing 40 to 45 eggs per year during the laying season instead of 60 eggs, it would require approximately 400,000 more hens. In terms of feed this would mean that it would require at least 20,000 more tons of feed—approximately 1000 carloads."

Feeding, management, sanitation, and breeding are responsible for the increased egg production attained at the Purina Experimental Farm from the turkey breeder flock, Plaisance asserts. "Our original breeding flock was selected some years ago from a flock of poults hatched from eggs purchased at random the previous spring. We had no advance information concerning their ability to lay. Proper feeding and management brought out their inherited ability to produce lots of eggs."

Editor's Note: The turkey breeder ration fed to the breeder flock at the Purina Experimental Farm is handled locally by our distributor of checkerboard feeds.

and make itself the rubber stamp of a dictator, with all the consequences to the people of the United States which that supine course will entail.

"Or it can timidly exercise its power by revising the bill here and there, hoping thereby to retain some shred of its constitutional authority or to recover it at some future date. Or it can reject the bill altogether and write a new one designed to speed up the preparedness program on the basis of national defense, rather than on the assumption of American belligerency in the existing war."

"Of these three courses, it is hardly probable that Congress will adopt the first. It is highly improbable that the President expected his bill to pass without modification. It contains numerous features which lend themselves to trading purposes. Congress can take advantage of these openings for revision and thus make a display of its prerogative, hoping to save its face and create a popular impression that it has not abdicated its responsibility. This is the course which, it is to be feared, will be chosen. It will be put forward as a compromise; the public clamor against taking the United States into the war will be appeased, and Congress will cherish the illusion that it is still a functioning part of the system of checks and balances of power provided by the Constitution."

"Against such a compromise, those who would keep this country out of war must now bring the full weight of their most vigorous protest. The wings of the President's now fully disclosed purpose to force the nation into war cannot be clipped by merely modifying certain features of his bill. He can be estopped in his determination only by a Congress which is equally determined and by an upsurge of public indignation which will let Congress know that the President's singlehanded commitment of this country to war means that he will enter it with a deeply divided nation behind him. . . .

"Not Great Britain, but this Congress is the front line of America's defense. Will the citizenship of the nation make its will known—unmistakably and overwhelmingly known—to those who have the responsibility and the power to save America before it is too late?"

One Extra Pint of Milk Each Milking Makes Feed Worth $8.00 More Per Ton

|-----|--|
| ... | 1 extra pint per milking makes ration worth $8.00 more a ton. |
| ... | 1 1/2 extra pints per milking makes ration worth $12.00 more a ton. |
| ... | 2 extra pints per milking makes ration worth $16.00 more a ton. |

(Note: Above prices are figured with milk at $2.00 per cwt.)

Results of experiments at the Purina Experimental Farm show that a cow may consistently produce 15 pounds of milk per milking on one ration and 16 on another. Although that extra pound is only a pint more and hardly shows in the pail, it really does add up to quite a sum.

This is the way it figures. If a cow is fed 10 pounds of a dairy ration each day and milks 30 pounds of milk daily, that means a pretty fair return on the feed she eats, if milk is sold at $2.00 per hundred weight. However, if she is fed the same amount of a better feed and gives one pint more each milking, that feed is worth two cents more per milking or four cents more per day. In other words, the better feed is worth four cents more for each ten pounds, forty cents more per hundred, or eight dollars more per ton. An extra pint more per milking does make a difference.

While it is hard to tell whether there are 15 or 16 pounds of milk in a milk pail, it's still harder to tell by just looking at a feed whether it will produce 15 or 16 pounds of milk. Two feeds that look alike may produce entirely different results when fed to the cow. It all depends on the ingredients in the feed, their quality, and how they are blended.

Editor's Note: Our local Purina feed dealer has checkerboard dairy rations to be fed straight with home grown roughage. He also has checkerboard dairy concentrates to be mixed with home grown grains to make up dairy rations that are fed with home grown roughages. He will be happy to advise cow owners how to feed their herds to the best advantage, using as much of their home grown feed as possible.

The Song of the Angels

ONE of the sweetest songs ever heard on earth is surely that one sung by the heavenly host of angels (Luke 2:14), "On earth peace, good will toward men." The occasion of the song was the birth at Bethlehem of the babe Jesus.

The prophecy of peace made on that brilliant starlit night will some day be fulfilled universally, since a desire for peace has ever been cherished in the hearts of men. We may ask why it is, then, that this desire is not being more speedily realized. The reason undoubtedly is that men have looked for peace where no peace is to be found. No merely material system, supported by physical force, can offer lasting peace.

Today, many earnest endeavors are being made to reconcile men and nations, and to bring to all a fairer share of the earth's goods, thus eliminating, in some degree, the evils that tend to foment the worst passions in men, which often reach their climax in war. But material methods, even those motivated by unselfish desires, cannot bring about permanent peace, for this peace is found only in the realm of Spirit.

To reach a scientific, right conclusion we must of necessity start with a correct premise. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 402): "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since Life cannot be united to its likeness, mortality." We learn from the Scriptures that God created all, "and, behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). The universe and the inhabitants thereof, then, are perfect, like their creator, and God's law of peace and harmony reigns supreme. This is spiritual fact.

The mist or Adam dream, of which we read in the second chapter of Genesis, presents the falsity that man is mortal and material, created out of dust and governed by various so-called powers, claiming to be both good and evil. From this false premise arise the claims of misunderstanding, rivalry, greed, strife, sickness, chaos, and war. This false premise implies also that man can be the football of chance and change, which is of course a lie. . . .

God, the divine Principle of man, perpetuates man as His reflection. It is not true that the child of God is both good and evil, peaceful and discordant, loving and hateful. These are but false beliefs of mortals, which are dispelled when we realize that man is what the Scriptures declare him to be, the image of his creator. Our freedom comes, then, as we recognize and acknowledge our true relationship to the Father, gratefully perceiving that "now are we the sons of God" (1 John 3:2)—now, not sometime in a vague future, in a far-away place, but here and now. As children of God we dwell always in unity and peace.

All will agree that peace is a quality of divine Mind. Then it logically follows that peace is inherent in man, the representative of God. Peace cannot be lessened or destroyed, for it is now and forever established. And Love is awakening human consciousness to this great spiritual fact.

In the proportion that they understand the truth about God and man, men learn to trust in God more fully, and fear, suspicion, selfishness, and hatred correspondingly decrease. This Christlike understanding is expressed in the love which knows no destructive criticism, no greed, no resentment; in the joy which knows no gloom; in the gratitude which knows no fear. As the vision of spiritual good is cherished in individual consciousness, it serves as a beacon light to brighten our pathway in our ascent above mortal, material sense testimony. As "every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Revelation 5:9) learns to turn to God, Spirit, as all-power, universal peace will be demonstrated in human experience. May our prayer be that peace be not only talked, but so lived that the passerby will feel its holy influence. Mrs. Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 279), "The First Commandment in the Hebrew Decalogue—'Thou shalt have no other gods before me'—obeyed, is sufficient to still all strife. God is the divine Mind. Hence the sequence: Had all people one Mind, peace would reign." When the world has learned to obey the one Mind, God, then we shall be able to sing with the angels, "On earth peace, good will toward men," in perfect confidence that permanent peace has been established.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

NEVER has the skilled mechanic had a greater opportunity to serve his country. Even the man who has but a little mechanical training has a chance to jump quickly into a more responsible position. Many major industries have apprentice-training programs that will be greatly enlarged in the next year or two. Some firms are installing training programs for the first time.

The man who is content to "ride along" in the wake of all this intensified training will have no one to blame but himself if he finds himself still classified as unskilled labor.

Thousands of ambitious young men who through no fault of their own could not attend high school and college in recent years, now have a great chance to educate themselves. Much of this training can be secured at the expense of their employers. These men are urgently needed to fill gaps in the ranks of semi-skilled labor. These ranks have been depleted by the emergency demands of the present which caused many plants to promote men to better positions on a moment's notice.

Some time in the future this country will be faced with the enormous task of finding employment for those now engaged in producing military equipment. When this period of transition comes, it will challenge every man's resourcefulness, especially the man who is not among the most skilled workers. Here, then, is the opportunity for that man to prepare himself for the inevitable readjustment which will come "after the war." He can be ready. He is going to have a real opportunity to be read. His future is thus entirely up to him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 10.
The Golden Text was, "Let all those that seek thee with joy and gladness in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified" (Psalms 70:4).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly" (Psalms 84:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Day may decline and shadows fall, but darkness flees when the earth has again turned upon its axis. The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals soul as God, untouched by sin and death—as the central life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

Improving Our Environment

JESUS said (Luke 17:21), "The kingdom of God is within you." Therefore, harmony, satisfaction, contentment, and peace are present for individual realization at all times.

Mary Baker Eddy writes (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 107), "Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity." Thus it is evident that what we admit to be true has a marked effect upon our daily experience.

Spiritual understanding is the only effective remedy for erroneous beliefs, since it reveals Mind to be the one true basis for happiness and harmony. The best assurance for maintaining a desirable environment is a consciousness filled with goodness, love, justice—a consciousness imbued with the conviction that "all things work together for good to them that love God" (Romans 8:28). The consciousness of the allness—the omnipresence—of divine Love affords an effective defense against all manner of erroneous suggestion.

Christ Jesus said (John 14:2), "In my Father's house are many mansions." Man, as the idea of God, lives and moves in Mind, the infinite divine consciousness, wherein are only harmony and goodness. Our true selfhood is ever aware of kindness, compassion, peace, health, perfection. God's image and likeness knows no other state of being than that of perpetual harmony. Health, harmony, happiness are attained by spiritualizing individual human consciousness. We should always resist the temptation to believe that we are unable to accomplish a worthy task because of environment, conditions, or unjust opposition.

All we need to do is to accept the fact that, as the children of God, omnipotent, infinite Truth, we are endowed with unlimited spiritual capacity. Then we shall begin to express the wisdom and strength necessary to achievement. Consistent harmony and success can be won only as we constantly reason from the basis of Spirit.

As we look at existence from the spiritual point of view, we find joy, beauty, and bliss made manifest in our present experience. If we believe ourselves to be material and separated from divine Principle, the goal we desire seems remote and even unattainable. But when we grasp the fact, even faintly, that true selfhood is at one with God, Love, and has no taint of materiality and mortality, the outlook brightens and we find heaven at hand.

He who is conscious of the presence of divine power sees as unreal any sense of a disagreeable or cramped environment. The song of the bird, the beauty of the flower, the sky, the sunlight, all speak to the human heart of peace. Why? Because they lift our thought above the drab outlook of material sense to the contemplation of these symbols of divine goodness. Then, how much more should the Science of Christ, when understood and applied, increase our peace and joy, and promote harmony and success in all worthy enterprises! The only possible way we have of experiencing real and stable happiness and peace is through spiritual thinking, which recognizes the presence and allness of inexhaustible Love.

There is but one really satisfying way to improve our environment, and that is by eliminating evil from our thinking, by banishing envy, fear, selfishness, and hatred. The purified consciousness finds concord and bliss where material sense suggests discord and woe.

When we realize that God is omnipresent, we know that evil cannot prevent us from proving the perfection of man, God's likeness. No claim of evil can interfere with our demonstration of goodness, blessedness, and harmony. If harmony does not seem to be present, we need to draw closer to God, and cling more firmly to His allness and goodness. In proportion to our realization of God's all-inclusiveness, and of man's likeness to Soul, will good come into our human experience. Let us accept wholeheartedly the fact that good is infinite, and that error cannot prevent our recognition of the fact. Then the loveliness of creation will unfold before our spiritualized vision, and our present experience will be filled with opportunities for good, friendship, and righteousness.

Former Residents Send Greetings

Greetings from far corners of the country came to the News and other friends here during the holidays. Due to lack of space at that time the letters were held over for later publication. Newsy letters from Florida and Oregon appear below.

From Pahokee, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ahrens request that their copy of the News be sent to that city until next March, when they will return to Antioch.

"This is a beautiful place," they write "and when we read about the zero temperature up there we wish sincerely that we could share this beautiful sunshine we enjoy here. We hope this finds you and all our friends up there in the best of health." The Ahrens' address is general delivery, Pahokee, Fla.

HARRISONS IN PORTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Harrison, of Portland, Oregon, renewing their subscription write that they wish all a very merry Christmas and a happy new year. "We look forward," they write, "to receiving our paper every Monday morning, and we enjoy reading about what is going on in the old home town. Although we are in a very beautiful country and city we still think of the old home town and state. Portland is a city of over 300,000 population. Temperatures range around 45 to 50 degrees, and of course we have rain instead of snow. The temperature has been down as low as 32 deg. just once so far this winter. Roses and other flowers are in bloom and lawnmowers are still humming."

The Harrisons are proud of their adopted city, and they have written interesting information about the west coast metropolis. Portland has many lumber mills and flour mills, cement factories, woolen mills, foundries and steel plants. Two rivers, the Willamette and the Columbia, flow through the city. Great ocean ships dock at the ports in Portland and also at the city of Vancouver, four miles across the Columbia river.

Great ship-building yards at Portland give employment to thousands of workers, and the city's airports are among the finest in the country.

Three famous mountains—Mt. Hood, St. Helen's and Mt. Adams are in sight of Portland. Ski tournaments and other winter sports are popular in the region, which has many resorts for both winter and summer vacationists. The city is 90 miles from the Pacific ocean, and 50 miles from the state capital city, Salem, which boasts a new and beautiful capitol building.

Mr. Harrison is a special police officer with the Portland City Police Department. Their address is 841 N. Russett street.

Farm Senators In Fight Against Dictatorship Bill

Urge All Citizens to Write
Their Congressmen Asking
Measure's Defeat.

Farm state senators, church publications and the daily press all have joined voices to chorus their indignation at the war propagandists' bill introduced into Congress, which seeks to drive this country into war after establishing a dictatorship here.

Sen. Arthur Capper, Kansas, led a group of other farm senators in proclaiming opposition to the war bill, and, with the America First Committee, urged citizens to write their representatives and senators asking the measure be killed.

"I am against the bill as I think it gives the President dangerous powers and it will lead to war," Capper said tersely. "The congress should not be asked to surrender the powers given to it by the constitution."

Both of the Senators Clark, Bennett Champ of Missouri and D. Worth of Idaho, similarly called for defeat of the proposal.

"The measure indicates war abroad and dictatorship at home," Clark of Missouri said. "If the United States goes to war the farmers and laborers will pay the bill. The bill will be something the like of which the world has never seen."

Clark of Idaho said that the proposed legislation "is wrapped up in the dictatorship issue, to such an extent that the risk of America's entry into the war is part and parcel of the bill. I am against the United States entering the war. If we should become involved the war would last for years and the only sure thing to come out of it would be economic ruin for this country. The farmer had a taste of that after the last war—but it was only a taste."

Sen. Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota, asserted, "The people of the United States have permitted their President and his ambassadors to create an international emergency for them. The emergency, however great now, does not compare with the emergency that will be visited upon them if the President is given what he asks for in the pending bill. Name it whatever you will, the bill provides for the divorce of the people, of all its powers and gives to the President powers including those of making alliances for war greater than ever entertained by a war-time President and this at a time when we are at war with no nation," Nye continued.

"I am confident that if only the people can have time to study and know this dictator bill they will kill the proposal with their protests. This they should do, else our democracy is gone and we are compromised to active participation in a long war in which every nation engaging will lose," Nye said.

Wisconsin's senior senator, Robert M. LaFollette, whose father fought our entry into the last war, also warned that "Under the terms of the pending measure the President would be empowered to create a state of war. In fact, the bill specifically provides for the use of our ports and facilities as a base for belligerent warships. Here is a proposal to import the European war to our shores."

"The bill gives blanket approval of Congress in advance for the President to dispose of part or all of our fleet. Merchant ships, planes, tanks, or other implements and munitions of war now in the possession of or being manufactured for our Army and Navy," LaFollette said.

"The terms and conditions under which any foreign government would receive any aid would be solely at the discretion of the President."

"It is a bold attempt to create a dictatorship to govern our future foreign policy. Once this bill becomes law Congress will function only as a rubber stamp."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana, who is leading the fight on the bill in the Senate, assailed the measure as a means to send American boys into foreign wars.

"The bill, because of its broad grant of power to a single man, is a dictatorship measure," Wheeler said. "Because it violates every concept of American neutrality, I have previously called it the New Deal's triple-A foreign policy, it may well mean that every fourth American boy will be plowed under African or European soil."

The non-denominational "Christian Century," leading weekly Christian magazine, expressed itself as follows:

"It is the most un-American proposal which the American people have ever been asked to consider. . . . The grants of power to the executive which the bill carries make it a blueprint of totalitarianism."

"Thus, for the moment, Congress holds the power to deliver the nation to a dictatorship or to rescue it from the threat of one. Three courses lie open to it. It can abdicate its power as the German reichstag did, as the Italian chamber of deputies did, as the Polish parliament did, as all democracies which have gone totalitarian have done,

BETTER FEEDING REDUCES TURKEY BREEDING COSTS

Purina Experimental Farm turkey hen No. 520 laid 219 eggs in a 292-day period.

That the efficiency of turkey breeder production can be improved tremendously is shown by the results at the Purina Experimental Farm at Gray Summit, Missouri.

According to G. P. Plaisance, manager of the Turkey Department, the turkey breeder flock at the Purina Experimental Farm produces around 60 eggs per hen during the months of March, April, and May, whereas according to available data, the country's average for these same three months, which are the principal months when the average turkeys do their laying, is 45 to 50 eggs.

"The significance of these comparative figures is revealed when one considers that last year approximately more than 32,000,000 turkeys were marketed from about 40,000,000 hatched," Plaisance says. On the basis of the average turkey hen producing 40 to 45 eggs per year during the laying season instead of 60 eggs, it would require approximately 400,000 more hens. In terms of feed this would mean that it would require at least 20,000 more tons of feed—approximately 1000 carloads.

Feeding, management, sanitation, and breeding are responsible for the increased egg production attained at the Purina Experimental Farm from the turkey breeder flock, Plaisance asserts. "Our original breeding flock was selected some years ago from a flock of poulters hatched from eggs purchased at random the previous spring. We had no advance information concerning their ability to lay. Proper feeding and management brought out their inherited ability to produce lots of eggs."

Editor's Note: The turkey breeder ration fed to the breeder flock at the Purina Experimental Farm is handled locally by our distributor of checkerboard feeds.

and make itself the rubber stamp of a dictator, with all the consequences to the people of the United States which that supine course will entail.

"Or it can timidly exercise its power by revising the bill here and there, hoping thereby to retain some shred of its constitutional authority or to recover it at some future date. Or it can reject the bill altogether and write a new one designed to speed up the preparedness program on the basis of national defense, rather than on the assumption of American belligerency in the existing war."

"Of these three courses, it is hardly probable that Congress will adopt the first. It is highly improbable that the President expected his bill to pass without modification. It contains numerous features which lend themselves to trading purposes. Congress can take advantage of these openings for revision and thus make a display of its prerogative, hoping to save its face and create a popular impression that it has not abdicated its responsibility. This is the course which, it is to be feared, will be chosen. It will be put forward as a compromise; the public clamor against taking the United States into the war will be appeased, and Congress will cherish the illusion that it is still a functioning part of the system of checks and balances of power provided by the Constitution."

"Against such a compromise, those who would keep this country out of war must now bring the full weight of their most vigorous protest. The wings of the President's now fully disclosed purpose to force the nation into war cannot be clipped by merely modifying certain features of his bill. He can be stopped in his determination only by a Congress which is equally determined and by an upsurge of public indignation which will let Congress know that the President's singlehanded commitment of this country to war means that he will enter it with a deeply divided nation behind him."

"Not Great Britain, but this Congress is the front line of America's defense. Will the citizenship of the nation make its will known—unmistakably and overwhelmingly known—to those who have the responsibility and the power to save America before it is too late?"

One Extra Pint of Milk
Each Milking Makes Feed
Worth $8.00 More Per Ton

|--|---------------------|
| 1 extra pint per milking makes ration worth | $8.00 more a ton. |
| 1 1/2 extra pints per milking makes ration worth | $12.00 more a ton. |
| 2 extra pints per milking makes ration worth | $16.00 more a ton. |

(Note: Above prices are figured with milk at $2.00 per cwt.)

Results of experiments at the Purina Experimental Farm show that a cow may consistently produce 15 pounds of milk per milking on one ration and 16 on another. Although that extra pound is only a pint more and hardly shows in the pail, it really does add up to quite a sum.

This is the way it figures. If a cow is fed 10 pounds of a dairy ration each day and milks 30 pounds of milk daily, that means a pretty fair return on the feed she eats, if milk is sold at $2.00 per hundred weight. However, if she is fed the same amount of a better feed and gives one pint more each milking, that feed is worth two cents more per milking or four cents more per day. In other words, the better feed is worth four cents more for each ten pounds, forty cents more per hundred, or eight dollars more per ton. An extra pint more per milking does make a difference.

While it is hard to tell whether there are 15 or 16 pounds of milk in a milk pail, it's still harder to tell by just looking at a feed whether it will produce 15 or 16 pounds of milk. Two feeds that look alike may produce entirely different results when fed to the cow. It all depends on the ingredients in the feed, their quality, and how they are blended.

Editor's Note: Our local Purina feed dealer has checkerboard dairy rations to be fed straight with home grown roughage. He also has checkerboard dairy concentrates to be mixed with home grown grains to make up dairy rations that are fed with home grown roughages. He will be happy to advise cow owners how to feed their herds to the best advantage, using as much of their home grown feed as possible.

The Song of the Angels

ONE of the sweetest songs ever heard on earth is surely that one sung by the heavenly host of angels (Luke 2:14). "On earth peace, good will toward men." The occasion of the song was the birth at Bethlehem of the babe Jesus.

The prophecy of peace made on that brilliant starlit night will some day be fulfilled universally, since a desire for peace has ever been cherished in the hearts of men. We may ask why it is, then, that this desire is not being more speedily realized. The reason undoubtedly is that men have looked for peace where no peace is to be found. No merely material system, supported by physical force, can offer lasting peace.

Today, many earnest endeavors are being made to reconcile men and nations, and to bring to all a fairer share of the earth's goods, thus eliminating, in some degree, the evils that tend to foment the worst passions in men, which often reach their climax in war. But material methods, even those motivated by unselfish desires, cannot bring about permanent peace, for this peace is found only in the realm of Spirit.

To reach a scientific, right conclusion we must of necessity start with a correct premise. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 492): "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since Life cannot be united to its unlikeliness, mortality." We learn from the Scriptures that God created all, "and, behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). The universe and the inhabitants thereof, then, are perfect, like their creator, and God's law of peace and harmony reigns supreme. This is spiritual fact.

The mist or Adam dream, of which we read in the second chapter of Genesis, presents the falsity that man is mortal and material, created out of dust and governed by various so-called powers, claiming to be both good and evil. From this false premise arise the claims of misunderstanding, rivalry, greed, strife, sickness, chaos, and war. This false premise implies also that man can be the foothold of chance and change, which is of course a lie.

God, the divine Principle of man, perpetuates man as His reflection. It is not true that the child of God is both good and evil, peaceful and discordant, loving and hateful. These are but false beliefs of mortals, which are dispelled when we realize that man is what the Scriptures declare him to be, the image of his creator. Our freedom comes, then, as we recognize and acknowledge our true relationship to the Father, gratefully perceiving that "now are we the sons of God" (1 John 3:2)—now, not sometime in a vague future, in a far-away place, but here and now. As children of God we dwell always in unity and peace.

All will agree that peace is a quality of divine Mind. Then it logically follows that peace is inherent in man, the representative of God. Peace cannot be lessened or destroyed, for it is now and forever established. And love is awakening human consciousness to this great spiritual fact.

In the proportion that they understand the truth about God and man, men learn to trust in God more fully, and fear, suspicion, selfishness, and hatred correspondingly decrease. This Christlike understanding is expressed in the love which knows no destructive criticism, no greed, no resentment; in the joy which knows no gloom; in the gratitude which knows no fear. As the vision of spiritual good is cherished in individual consciousness, it serves as a beacon light to brighten our pathway in our ascent above mortal, material sense testimony. As "every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Revelation 5:9) learns to turn to God, Spirit, as all-power, universal peace will be demonstrated in human experience. May our prayer be that peace be not only talked, but so lived that the passerby will feel its holy influence. Mrs. Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 279), "The First Commandment in the Hebrew Decalogue—'Thou shalt have no other gods before me'—obeyed, is sufficient to still all strife. God is the divine Mind. Hence the sequence: Had all people one Mind, peace would reign." When the world has learned to obey the one Mind, God, then we shall be able to sing with the angels, "On earth peace, good will toward men," in perfect confidence that permanent peace has been established.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International
Correspondence Schools

NEVER has the skilled mechanic had a greater opportunity to serve his country. Even the man who has but a little mechanical training has a chance to jump quickly into a more responsible position. Many major industries have apprentice-training programs that will be greatly enlarged in the next year or two. Some firms are installing training programs for the first time.

The man who is content to "ride along" in the wake of all this intensified training will have no one to blame but himself if he finds himself still classified as unskilled labor. Thousands of ambitious young men who through no fault of their own could not attend high school and college in recent years, now have a great chance to educate themselves. Much of this training can be secured at the expense of their employers. These men are urgently needed to fill gaps in the ranks of semi-skilled labor. These ranks have been depleted by the emergency demands of the present which caused many plants to promote men to better positions on a moment's notice.

Some time in the future this country will be faced with the enormous task of finding employment for those now engaged in producing military equipment. When this period of transition comes, it will challenge every man's resourcefulness, especially the man who is not among the most skilled workers. Here, then, is the opportunity for that man to prepare himself for the inevitable readjustment which will come "after the war." He can be ready. He is going to have a real opportunity to be read. His future is thus entirely up to him.

Sprinkle with 1/4 cup shredded blanched almonds. Honey rolls make a good luncheon combination with this dish.

MACARONI LOAF

2 cups cooked and chopped macaroni
2 cups grated cheese
2 cups cracker crumbs
2 cups cream
1 grated onion
1 cup melted butter
4 beaten egg whites
6 tablespoons chopped pimento
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
Salt and pepper.
Bake in bread tin in hot water for 45 minutes.

BROILED FISH

Split the fish down the back and wipe as dry as possible. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place, skin side down, in a well-oiled broiler. Broil, turn skin side up just long enough to make it brown and crisp. Serve spread with melted butter and chopped parsley.

FRIED OYSTERS

Drain the oysters in a sieve and examine each for bits of shell. Dry. Season with salt and pepper, then egg and crumb and fry in deep fat.

ORANGE ROLLS

Here is a good way to dress up plain rolls or biscuits. The ingredients needed include:

2 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup orange sugar (sugar mixed with grated orange rind and lemon juice)
1/2 cup milk or orange juice
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Sift dry ingredients together and rub in shortening. Then beat egg, add milk or orange juice and the dry mixture. Blend with fork until the dry ingredients are moistened. Turn on floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll out on board three times as long as wide and 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with orange sugar and roll up the whole business jelly-roll fashion. Finally cut roll into one-inch lengths, place in greased muffin tins and bake in hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

MID-WINTER SALADS

The wise cook plans to include at least one salad a day in winter for they provide much needed vitamins as well as appetite appeal.

VEGETABLE SALAD COMBINATION

1/4 cup cooked peas
1/4 cup cooked beets
1/4 cup cooked carrots
Cut 1/4-inch rings of green pepper. Place rings on bed of lettuce or shredded cabbage. Fill each ring with one vegetable, serve with mayonnaise.

WOODEN BOWL SALAD

Rub bowl with clove of garlic, line with hearts of lettuce leaves. Slice in three peeled cucumbers, cut up lettuce, onions, slices of tomato and a small tin of curled anchovies. Place in refrigerator for at least 2 hours. Add French dressing, garnish with slices of hard boiled egg. Serve with cheese and unsalted crackers.

WILTON SALAD

1 can tomato soup
2 tablespoons gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 cream cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup chopped onion.
Boil tomato soup, add cheese, stir until smooth, add dissolved gelatin. When partly cool, add vegetables and mayonnaise, mold. Chill for 3 hours and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise and paprika.

COLESLAW

Cut cabbage not too fine, salt and pepper, chill. Make dressing of following: 2 beaten eggs, 5 tablespoons strong white vinegar, 3 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons melted butter. Heat over fire, but do not boil. Cool. Just before serving mix with cabbage. Garnish with slices of hard boiled egg.

FROZEN SALAD

1 cup boiled mayonnaise
2 cream cheese
1 cup maraschino cherries
1 cup whipped cream
2 slices pineapple, cut
1 green pepper, cut
1 cup pecans, chopped.
Mix, chill in mold and serve.

Uncooked Greens

The human appetite for green foods appears to reach its peak in the spring. According to dietitians, more of the vital food elements greens contain are retained by the body if such foods are served uncooked. Cress (either water or land), lettuce, endive and so on are delicious when served raw with mayonnaise, French dressing or a not vinegar sauce.

One tongue said to the other, "It must be spring. Here comes a swallow."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Never use a knife to cut angel food cake; use a fork.

Meat should not be seasoned until it is partially cooked.

Wire and iron bed-springs that become rusty should be given a coat of paint.

A lemon will yield nearly double the amount of juice if it is heated thoroughly before squeezing.

Washing soda is one of the safest, most economical and effective water softeners.

Mirrors should never be hung where the sun shines directly on them for any length of time.

Pillow slips iron easier length-wise.

BAD LIGHTING

According to a recent bulletin by the U. S. Public Health Service, many American homes are poorly lighted. They have too many dark corners and gloomy halls, and their windows are too small and too few. Moreover, in many of our older homes the light is bad because changes have been made to keep pace with the advances in lighting practices. However, it is possible, at minimum expense, to improve the original installations by substituting modern equipment.

Two of the principal ways in which existing lighting fixtures may be modernized to improve illumination are: Shade all bare lamps to reduce brightness and eliminate glare and shadows. 2. Use more portable lamps.

Vitamins Found

Vitamins were found through husks from rice, which were fed chickens.

Flour Sifters

Flour sifters and kitchen strainers should be dried thoroughly before storing.

War Action Shifted to Balkan States As Hitler Moves Toward Dardanelles; British Forces Sweep On in Africa; Churchill Plea: Send 'Tools, Not Men'

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

APPEAL:

But Not for Men

Winston Churchill in an address to the empire, but phrased also for U. S. consumption, said the British did not need American armies—this year, next year or ever as far as he could foresee. But England does need munitions, he said. "Give us the tools, we'll finish the job," he appealed.

There was indication that the tools were arriving. In January U. S. factories had a quota of 700 warplanes and at midmonth expectations were that the quota would not be met by 30 per cent. But this was an error. Survey showed 1,000 planes were produced. If half of them went to England, as the President promised, England was getting what it needed. The amounts will increase.

But Adolf Hitler was carrying out his threat to "torpedo" American help to Britain. The planes are being flown to England, via Iceland. German bombers raided Iceland and bombed the airfield there. Iceland is 1,000 miles from the closest German air base. In four more hours the swastika-embellished craft could reach the North American continent.

Senate Goes On

In Washington the house passed the lend-lease bill for aid to Britain. The senate began discussion with the expectation that talk would not cease before the end of February. "If this keeps up," said Senator Glass, "the Germans will be here before we get done debating."

Home from a survey of war-torn Britain came Wendell Willkie to appear before the senators. He said Britain can halt an invasion. But he urged that the U. S. send them more destroyers. He said five to ten a month will be necessary to keep the sealanes open.

pear before the senators. He said Britain can halt an invasion. But he urged that the U. S. send them more destroyers. He said five to ten a month will be necessary to keep the sealanes open.

SPRING:

In the Balkans

Spring and Adolf Hitler came to the Balkans. The fuhrer's great criticism of World war tactics was that Germany permitted itself to become involved on two fronts at the same time. He has always avoided this.

Whether his movement into Bulgaria and toward the Dardanelles was an indication that he did not intend to move against England immediately was not clear. But it seemed apparent that Germany's next campaign would be toward the Mediterranean.

For months hundreds of thousands of German troops have been moved into Rumania. The revolution that ousted King Carol put Nazis in control of the government. These native Nazis quickly put themselves under order of Germany. Rumanian oilfields and railroads became subject to their direction.

First news of the infiltration of German soldiers into Rumania came in a speech by Winston Churchill. Sofia denied it, but within 24 hours neutral sources made it known that thousands of German soldiers in uniform, but wearing civilian overcoats, were passing the border into Bulgaria. Then came swarms of Nazi transport planes with parachute troops. Bulgarian railroads suddenly restricted civilian traffic.

Bulgaria had depended upon Russia for protection. It was a false hope. Moscow sent an envoy to tell Bulgarian ministers not to expect them to fight. Bulgaria and Turkey, who had spoken big but not mobilized their troops, suddenly began to talk of the other side of their mouth. King Boris, who had ridiculed the German army, was silent.

Across the Waters

On the other side of the Mediterranean, in Africa, the British were sweeping the Italian troops before them. It appeared as though the rival armies would hold securely the opposite shores of the great inland sea.

Marshall Graziani and his Fascist legions were retreating so fast that British armies had chased them out of virtually all of Libya and were faced with the question of pursuit into French Tunis. There Gen. Maxime Weygand waited with 450,000 French troops. Which way he would swing was not clear. But in Vichy aged Marshal Petain was bowing to the instructions of the Fascist-minded Admiral Darlan and it was believed Pierre Laval might soon return from Paris to take over the helm of government. Spain's General Franco was en route through southern Europe for a conference with Premier Mussolini. It was said Mussolini would make a supreme effort to get Spain into the war on the side of the Axis and permit an attack on Gibraltar.

In eastern Africa, the Italians also were losing fast. Hemmed in on all sides by British troops and Ethiopian warriors they knew not which way to retreat.

Meanwhile British bombers raided Italy. They dropped 300 tons of bombs and naval shells upon Genoa where Winston Churchill said a Nazi army was preparing to embark for Africa.

The spring campaign had begun.

OH-GAY-PAY-OO:

In the U. S.

A chambermaid in a second class Washington hotel opened a guest's room and found a man sprawled over the bed in a pool of blood. She called police. They found a pistol in the man's hands and notes in Russian, German and French, signed Samuel Ginsberg. A certificate of suicide was issued and police prepared to write off the case after notifying a New York lawyer who was named in the dead man's notes.

But it wasn't that easy. The hotel guest was identified as Gen. Walter G. Krivitsky, former high ranking authority in the Soviet secret service. An early Communist, General Krivitsky had taken part in many secret negotiations. Once he was chief of the Communist party's secret police in western Europe.

General Krivitsky had incurred the displeasure of the Stalin regime. When his associates went before the firing squad he fled to America. Here in a series of magazine articles he began to expose what he said were the plans of the Communist Internationale for world revolution. He foretold the agreement that later was signed by Stalin and Hitler, he said the American Communist party was under orders from Moscow, he named some of their followers in the U. S. army and navy.

Since then he has appeared before the Dies committee with additional revelations. But he told close friends that his life was in danger. He traveled under cover and hid his wife and young son in isolated areas. Just a week before his death he told friends that the most dreaded killer of the Russian secret police the OGPU (pronounced Oh-Gay-Pay-OO) had arrived in America.

Death—During his 30 years in the U. S. senate, Reed Smoot, leader in the Mormon church, rose from an obscure member to leader of the Republican majority. He was defeated in 1933 in the Democratic sweep. The co-author of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act died far from his native Utah, while on a visit to relatives in Florida. He was 79 years old.

SEDITION:
Dictator in Democracy

FULGENCIO BATISTA

For him, two events—one blessed.

Fulgencio Batista, president of Cuba, is a study in contrasts. In 1933, he organized a revolution, squashed the rule of aristocrats. At any time thereafter he could have become president. He chose instead, to accept promotion from army sergeant to colonel and head the army.

But under his behind-the-scenes dictatorial regime, Cuban citizens had their civil rights extended, schools were built, poons given land and the national administration put on a business basis. Last year Batista decided to seek the presidency. He could have seized the office with little trouble. Instead he resigned from the army, campaigned in American style and gave the island its quietest election in history.

But there has been unrest in Cuba, and the crop of rumors of new revolutions have been on the usual weekly quota. Last summer when Rotary International held its convention in Cuba, many delegates were so impressed by the rumors that they went to bed each night with trepidation. Many of the delegates from the United States came home alarmed. They told of Nazi penetration in the island, how newspapers openly confessed German subsidy, how German lotteries were being operated, with the winners impressing the largest came from the German government. They said German U-boats were being supplied along isolated spots of Cuban territory. The facts may be true or otherwise, but many delegates were impressed.

Through it all, Fulgencio Batista showed no signs of being alarmed. Then suddenly as this winter's tourists were at their height, one night they saw sandbags being erected around the presidential palace and machine guns being mounted on public buildings. Batista was holding conference with his leading military commanders. Batista announced that all civil rights were suspended.

The following day a Cuban army plane landed at Miami, Fla., and there alighted Col. Jose E. Pedraza, chief of the Cuban army; Lieut. Col. Angel A. Gonzales, commander-in-chief of the navy; and Col. Bernardo Garcia, chief of the national police. With them were their families.

Back in Havana, Batista announced they had resigned after he caught them in certain unnamed seditious acts. Civil rights were returned to the people. Cuba was quiet again.

There was still more rejoicing the following day. Senora Eliza Godinez de Batista, wife of the president, gave birth to a daughter in the presidential palace. President Batista announced immediately that every child born on the island that day would receive a ten-pesos note, and a five-pesos savings account in the Cuban Postal Savings. An average of 350 babies are born each day in Cuba.

STRIKE:

But Not at Once

Demands for vacations with pay rejected, executives of 14 railway labor unions have notified President Roosevelt that a vote to strike will be taken during February. There will be no strike at once. The existing agreement between the unions and the nation's Class 1 railroads, hiring about 750,000 men, provides for mediation machinery.

But even that period is likely to be exceeded, George M. Harrison, head of a committee of union leaders, said about 30 days will be necessary to take the vote. Should a strike be authorized by the ballot, Harrison would fix the date for it.

MISCELLANY:

When Jacksonville, Fla., sees snow it's a rare day. Until this year the last flakes were seen in 1936. Since 1871 there have been just 10 days on which snowfall was recorded. This year is one for the record, snow arriving in thin flakes on February 9 and continuing for almost an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Brown of Fargo, N. D., became the parents of quadruplets. As commercial offers came in, their father went into court and had the family physician and himself named guardians. The court also will pass on any contracts or agreements offered by agents.

The Larkins and the Weirichs of Memphis, Tenn., like to keep their marriages in the family. Several months ago two of the Weirich brothers married two of the Larkin girls. Now Hazel, last of the Larkin girls, has married—you guessed it—Virgil last of the Weirich boys.

Dog's Ears Tuned To Catch Sounds Man Can't Hear

New Type Whistle Ca's Dogs Without Disturbing the Neighborhood.

Have you ever heard a dog howl mournfully when certain music was played? No doubt it sounded comical to you but it may actually have been painful to the dog. Here's why. A dog's sense of hearing is much more sensitive than that of human beings. Certain sounds may cause considerable discomfort to a dog's hearing. Music may hit a pitch that causes considerable pain to a dog.

Working on this principle, an English inventor several years ago developed what is known as a silent dog whistle. Only a slight hiss is audible to the human ear but it is apparently loud and pleasing to dogs.

From England this new whistle has been brought to this country. Many have been sold at comparatively high prices. But now, at a nominal price, a domestic silent dog whistle that compares very favorably with the English one is available. It can be had by sending to a St. Louis firm the coupon that comes with the purchase from our local Purina dealer of five pounds of his dry food for dogs—Dog Chow, and the nominal amount asked.

Because the new whistle is designed to command the attention of a dog up to 200 to 300 yards, it is just as useful to hunters as it is to the man who wishes to call his pet dog without disturbing the entire neighborhood. As one man expressed it, he can call his dog in private when he uses his new whistle.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the news

Czar—Professional football has become big business. Last year the National league played 55 games to almost 1,500,000 people. Now the league, modeled after big-time baseball, has taken another step toward stability. Elmer Layden, one of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen" back in 1924, has been named boss of the league, with powers like Kene-saw Landis has in baseball.

Death—During his 30 years in the U. S. senate, Reed Smoot, leader in the Mormon church, rose from an obscure member to leader of the Republican majority. He was defeated in 1933 in the Democratic sweep. The co-author of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act died far from his native Utah, while on a visit to relatives in Florida. He was 79 years old.

H. S. Basketeers to Enter District Tourney

With their 1940-41 conference season behind them, Antioch High school basketeers are now preparing to take part in the annual Illinois State Basketball tournament. The district play-offs will be held at Hebron, starting Wednesday and continuing through Saturday.

In a post-conference game Saturday evening at Zion the Sequoias won over Zion High school 24-17. The lightweight Antioch team lost to the Zion lightweights, 16-13.

Friday evening, in the last conference game of the season, Antioch lost to Wauconda, 20-22, and Wauconda scored over Bensenville, 27-19. Palatine, undefeated, beat Elia, 54 to 22, to take the championship of the Northwest conference. Wauconda and Northbrook were paired for second, with Antioch, Grant and Barrington, each having won six games and lost four, sharing a three-way tie for third place.

Coach R. H. Childers represented Antioch at an all-coaches basketball game held at Palatine Tuesday night under the auspices of the Palatine Lions club.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES FILING PETITIONS

The last date for the filing of petitions for candidates for town offices is Tuesday, February 25.

C. F. RICHARDS,
Town Clerk.

"Bill" Ehlerding of Channel Lake, who is very fond of squirrels and birds, reports that on Thursday, Feb. 14, he saw a pair of robins and a pair of blue jays near his place. He feeds squirrels and birds through the winter months.

It's funny, but with all this sub-zero weather this week, lots of people have been reporting seeing such things as "first robins," wild geese, and so on. However, John, out at the C. K. Anderson's place, phoned in Wednesday morning to tell us that's nothing. They've got a pet robin out there that's been staying around all winter. He lives in the bird house the martins live in during the summer time. "How's he doing, this cold weather?" we asked. "Oh, he's all right!" John assured us. "He's jes' as healthy as a alligator."

Seems funny, what with the cold weather we had this week and all, but Antioch stores, always forehanded, are looking forward already to getting their supply of candy ready for Easter. Herman Holbek tells us he sold 180 pounds of candy—all jelly beans, to be exact—for Easter "nests," the day before Easter. Other stores also had large sales of sweets. . . . It sort of staggers our imagination to imagine what the total must have been.

Miss Topsy Stewart (of Trevor) has changed her location in Chicago and is getting better wages.

Frank Kingman (Trevor) shipped a car load of sheep to Chicago last Friday and left for Florida the fore part of this week to look after his interest in the flowery state, taking his wife along for company.

Three freight cars jumped the track at Wadsworth and made a raid upon James Pollock's elevator, carrying away about 20 feet of siding and windows, exposing a large quantity of flour to the noonday sun and making kindling wood out of one corner of the car.

Poles for electric lights have been set out in Waukegan.

It was reported on Saturday last that portions of Silver Lake had thawed and broken up during the warm rainy weather of the previous week. We have certainly had considerable warm weather this winter, but it hardly seems possible that ice from 13 to 16 inches thick could thaw out so quickly, when we take into consideration the fact that it has frozen more or less every night for some time past.

A preliminary survey has been made for the proposed Kenosha-Lake Geneva electric railway.

A club has been organized at Trevor known as the Camp Lake Pumpkin Rollers. The members are Charles Miller, Gus Klie, Charles Wanemaker, Emil Lindstrom, Thos. Dowell, Chas. Oetting, Ed Carlson, Henry Meyer, Henry Peterson, F. W. Salzman, Harry Weigert, John Smith. The members are preparing to give a benefit for William Oetting of Channel Lake, who recently fell in the channel at his own ice house and, not being satisfied, went over to Esch's and also fell in there and lost a pair of socks he prized very highly.

The Waukegan Daily and Weekly Sun owned and conducted for the past four years by Frank T. Fowler, was sold on Tuesday of this week to Frank H. Just of the Libertyville Independent. We offer congratulations to Brother Just and wish him success in the new undertaking.

From the editorial comments: "Why worry? Those Germans who are already talking about the next war are doing so from mere force of habit."

Use Local Prices to Figure Profitable Way to Sell Corn

The problem of how to market corn most profitably is one that confronts hundreds of farmers throughout the country. The easiest way, of course, is to load the crop into a truck and haul it to the local elevator and sell it for cash. If the market is good, the profits may be large, but year in and year out the man who sells his corn crop for cash is at a disadvantage.

Another way to sell the corn crop is to feed it to hogs. Feed lot records show that it takes approximately 12 bushels of corn to produce 100 pounds of pork. Over a period of years, marketing corn on the hoof results in better returns for the crop than if it were sold for cash.

According to E. H. Hamel, manager of the Hog Department, Purina Mills, St. Louis, Missouri, there is still another way to market corn. That is to feed it to hogs along with his company's nationally recognized mixed protein concentrate called Hog Chow. Many prominent hog feeders, he says, have found that they can produce 100 pounds of pork on 5 1/2 bushels of corn and 50 pounds of Hog Chow.

Editor's Note: This hog concentrate developed at the Purina Experimental Farm to be fed with home grown grains is distributed locally by our checker-board feed dealer.

Kenosha County Fair Committees Appointed

The Kenosha County Fair members held the annual meeting at the high school Thursday evening. Re-elected to office as directors were Robert Pringle, Kenosha; Mrs. John Voelkerling, Burlington; Winn Peterson, Kenosha; John Sutcliffe, Bellwood, Ill.; and John Van Lier, Salem. Mannie Frey, Wilmet, was elected as a director.

Appointed on the Premium list committee were E. V. Ryall, Winn Peterson and Mannie Frey. The Fair dates were set for August 8, 9 and 10 on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Fair to be held at Wilmet.

Winneconne Game Postponed to March 7
